Suncorp offers customers more health insurance choice

AAMI, one of Suncorp's leading insurance brands, has strengthened its diverse insurance portfolio with the release of new private health solutions.

The new AAMI products complement the company's existing health insurance range that is already available for Suncorp Insurance and Apia customers.

Suncorp CEO Customer Platforms Gary Dransfield said expanding health insurance across other Suncorp brands reflects the company's commitment to giving customers more choice when it comes to supporting their health and wellbeing.

"We recognise Australians are prioritising their health and wellbeing at all life stages, which is why we have worked with our partner to design a suite of solutions to suit different ages and budgets - for example, the AAMI Starter Hospital Cover is a competitive offering in the market for young singles," Mr Dransfield said.

"Life can be unpredictable and we know customers are looking for simple solutions to help them protect what matters most.

"AAMI has been proud to provide Australians with peace of mind for more than 45 years and AAMI Health Insurance bolsters our existing personal insurance range, giving AAMI customers easy access to all their insurance solutions in one place."

The new AAMI health insurance includes five hospital insurance and four extras insurance coverage options and is available online or via the phone 13 22 44 and connects customers to an easy online claims process.

AAMI Health Insurance forms part of Suncorp's recently expanded partnership with nib Health Funds (nib).
