Suncorp announces new partnership with rediATM network

Suncorp has today announced it has entered a new partnership with Cuscal Limited, owners of the rediATM network, to significantly increase the number of direct-charge-free ATMs for its customers.

Suncorp CEO Customer Platforms, Gary Dransfield, said from 1 August, 2017, Cuscal Limited will become the exclusive provider of Suncorp's ATMs.

"Suncorp customers will soon have fee-free access to more ATMs, in more locations than ever before, following the announcement of this new partnership," Mr Dransfield said.

"The agreement will see the number of fee-free ATMs available to customers more than double to 3,300, up from the current 1,600.

"This partnership meets all of our requirements as a business, and is a great result for customers who will benefit from increased ATM access and functionality enhancements across the rediATM network."

Commenting on the news, Cuscal MD Craig Kennedy said:

"We're very pleased to welcome Suncorp to the rediATM network. It will make the network stronger and is great news for our 90 plus financial institution members, as well as their 11 million cardholders who have charge-free access to the rediATM network," he said.

"We've been providing safe, convenient, reliable ATM services for more than 30 years and with our recent investment in refreshing our entire rediATM network, we're looking forward to doing so for many years to come."
